For six weeks in 1974, an independent film crew gained access to a locked psychiatric ward in a state hospital in Los Angeles. This film goes beyond Titicut Follies or One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest in its indictment of mental hospital conditions. Discussion led by Geoff Reaume, Critical Disability Studies Graduate Program, York University, and author of Remembrance of Patients Past.

Memorializing Mad People's History: Preserving Our Past through Archives and Activism

Lecture by Geoffrey Reaume, Ph.D.

Geoffrey Reaume is Associate Professor in Critical Disability Studies at York University, the author of Remembrance of Patients Past: Patient Life at the Toronto Hospital for the Insane, and a co-founder of the Psychiatric Survivor Archives, Toronto.
